

Site - View Groups

Overview

The View Groups page allows administrators to manage existing user groups, update their permissions, change their status, and rename them.

Finding a Group

Select a group from the dropdown to load its current details and permissions in the edit form below.

Updating a Group

Group Name

Update the display name of the group.

Group Status

Update the status of the group. Available statuses are:

- Active — The group is available for assignment and its permissions are enforced
- Inactive — The group is disabled. Users assigned to an inactive group will lose access to all permissions
- Pending — The group is awaiting review and behaves the same as Inactive

Group Permissions

Update the permissions assigned to this group using the same permission checkboxes available when creating a group. Check or uncheck any permission to grant or revoke access for all users currently assigned to this group.

Permission changes take effect immediately for all users assigned to the group.

Click Update Group to save any changes.

Notes

- Be careful when modifying permissions for groups that have many users assigned — changes take effect immediately and could inadvertently restrict access
 - Setting a group to Inactive will affect all users currently assigned to it — consider reassigning users before deactivating a group
 - The Verifying group should not be modified or deleted as it serves as the default group for new LDAGO users and is expected to have no permissions
